Chapter 2210 She Came to Pick Him Up

Although the public opinion was temporarily suppressed, there was still the matter of those two women.

Soon after, there was a new movement on the internet. Someone went to observe the time, place, and hotel arrangement of the two crews respectively.

They also specifically asked the actors on set.

Some people wanted to use the opportunity to create trouble and implied that Kai was flirting with them at that time.

For a while, these statements suppressed Stanton Corporation's clarification.

This wave of news angered Kai.

He thought he had to put up with this, but he did not expect that when the two actresses came out to testify against Kai, there was a new update on his account.

His account was finally active after staying silent for so long.

However, it was not his doing.

Julie was the one who posted a few photos in Kai's name.

It was a photo of her and Kai, and a photo of her work permit in the crew at that time.

Julie worked behind the scenes and needed a permit to get on set.

Although almost everyone knew each other there, the permit was necessary for places with high confidentiality.

Kai took photos of her outfit because his hobby was taking pictures of Julie.

Those photos exposed the two actresses' motives.

Kai was not aware of Julie's actions yet.

Although his name was cleared, the paparazzi were still waiting for him at the hotel, and he was so annoyed that he could only take a nap because he could not go anywhere.

Unexpectedly, his phone rang.

He answered irritably, "Speak..." The other party was silent for a few seconds.

Julie finally said, "Pack up your things and come down. I'll wait for you downstairs." Kai was startled.

He woke up in an instant and rubbed his eyes, "Jules, aren't you busy with the film crew?"

Wait, did you find out about what happened online?

You shouldn't show up until this matter blows over!"

"Stop talking nonsense and hurry down now! I'm waiting for you here!" Julie urged impatiently.

Kai paused and immediately jumped out of bed. He looked down from the window and saw that the paparazzi were still squatting downstairs, waiting for him.

They would not leave so easily unless they got what they wanted.

He did not know what would happen if he appeared. "Jules..." He hesitated.

Julie interrupted him and said, "My car is arriving in three minutes.

You'd better get down on time.

Otherwise, you can stay in the hotel forever!" Kai was startled and looked in the mirror.

"I'll go down right away." He did not have any luggage, so he put on his hat and mask and ran downstairs.

He had three minutes to spare, but he did not dare to waste a second.

He still did not know what was going on online.

When he was in the elevator, he received a call from Dominic.

"You're amazing! I'm a little embarrassed that you handled this so well.

Ms. Nixon really showed her generosity.

Don't worry, I've already asked people to guide the public opinion on the internet.

So, there won't be anything harsh.

I'll try to control the public opinion in the shortest possible time.

But can you tell me next time before you speak out?

That way, I can be ready.

Otherwise, we might not cooperate well..." Dominic muttered, and Kai was a little confused.

"What? What happened?" Kai only knew that Floyd and Grant had clarified his presence at the earthquake zone.

For this reason, he was kicked out of the family group chat.

Dominic clicked his tongue.

"You don't know yet?" Before they could finish their conversation, the elevator arrived downstairs.

Kai hung up the phone, lowered the brim of his hat, and walked forward.

Coincidentally, a car stopped slowly at the entrance of the hotel.

When he looked up, he saw the woman in the driver's seat.

His eyes lit up immediately.

He quickly walked over, opened the car door, and got in.

Then, the car left the hotel in full view.

After they left, the paparazzi came to their senses.

"Hey, I think someone got into that car just now." "No way.

Isn't that a delivery van? Why would Kai get into this kind of car?" "Was I mistaken? The driver was a woman, and she was a beauty!" Kai glanced back, rolled down the window, and made a victory gesture.

This time, everyone knew for sure.

Kai actually ran away in full view! Julie, who was in front, rolled her eyes.

"Why are you still acting smug?" Kai curled his lips. His smile was bright and charming.

"I'm about to go crazy from being stuck at the hotel. My wife is the best! Let me kiss you!" He leaned over and kissed Julie's cheek hard.

Julie could not dodge in time.

She quickly turned the steering wheel and went into a small road in a few minutes.

The cars behind could not catch up even if they wanted to.

Kai's body swayed to the back.

He was always at ease with Julie's driving skills.

He suddenly remembered something, took out his phone, and went online.

The smile on his face disappeared little by little.

His family and wife slowly wiped away the dirt that was splashed on him.

Floyd was so annoyed that Kai relied on his face to make a living, but he still could not let others hurt his son.

As soon as Floyd found out about the matter, he told Grant to handle it.

Floyd always kept that photo of Kai in his phone because it was something he was proud of.

Kai was afraid that his wife would get hurt, but she was also afraid of hurting him.

Thus, she stood out to speak for him at the risk of being exposed.

Kai had always been cynical and did not care about anything, but he was touched by all these.

All of a sudden, he felt loved by the whole world.

Julie suddenly felt the silence in the car and was not used to it.

They were almost at home after they turned the corner.

Their neighborhood had tight security, so outside vehicles were not allowed to enter.

Julie stopped the car and breathed a sigh of relief.

“Are you alright?” Kai raised his dark eyes and looked at her as he said seriously, “I just saw your post.

I’m sorry that I found out too late.” Julie raised her eyebrows.

She thought that he had some serious matters to discuss.

“It doesn’t matter.

Anyway, it's resolved.

It's no big deal.

You're so silly.

How many years have you been in this circle? Can't you see that someone is deliberately trying to punish you?" The corners of Kai's mouth twitched.

"Yeah..." How could he not see it? He was just worried about Julie, so he did not dare to retaliate.

He was afraid that her past would get dug out, and it would hurt her.

Julie paused.

"Get out of the car." Kai followed her out, took off his hat, and hugged her.

"Thank you, wifey! No wonder Dad and the others say that I must've done something great in my previous life that I get to marry you in this life." Julie patted him and chuckled in a low voice.

"Save it!"
